Bad plastics, good plastics: Can PHA from wastewater reverse the trend?

Your opinion needed for an expert discussion on the market for PHAs

Join our webinar on
18 Sept. 2018, 17:00 – 18:00 CET

The INCOVER project invites experts in the area of bio-plastics to critically examine the market available for PHAs produced from wastewater. Some of the questions addressed will be:

- Which uses and markets exist for PHAs produced from wastewater treatment plants?
- What would trigger the uptake of wastewater-based PHAs by the market?
- How can sustainability and affordability come together to make this possible?

Contact water@iclei.org for further information and to register for the webinar.
